

Juvenile Justice Crime Prevention Act - Youthful Offender Block Grant
2018 Expenditure and Data Report
Due Date: October 1, 2018

On or before October 1, 2018, each county is required to submit to the Board of State & Community Corrections (BSCC) a report on its Juvenile Justice Crime Prevention Act (JJCPA) and Youthful Offender Block Grant (YOBG) programs during the preceding year. For JJCPA this requirement can be found at Government Code (GC) Section 30061(b)(4)(C) and for YOBG it can be found at Welfare & Institutions Code Section (WIC) 1961(c). These code sections both call for a consolidated report format that includes a description of the programs and other activities supported by JJCPA and/or YOBG funds, an accounting of all JJCPA and YOBG expenditures during the prior fiscal year, and countywide juvenile justice trend data.

Prior to submitting this report save the file using the following naming convention: "(County Name) 2018 JJCPA-YOBG Report." For example, Yuba County would name its file "Yuba 2018 JJCPA-YOBG Report".

Once the report is complete, attach the file to an email and send it to: JJCPA-YOBG@bscc.ca.gov. All reports will be posted to the BSCC website following a brief technical review. We encourage you to review your report for accuracy before sending it to the BSCC. Please do NOT change the report form to a PDF document.

Government Code Section 30061(b)(4)(C)(iv) & WIC Section 1961(c)(3)

Provide a summary description or analysis, based on available information, of how the programs, placements, services, strategies or system enhancements funded by JJCPA-YOBG have, or may have, contributed to, or influenced, the juvenile justice data trends identified in this report.

Data from the 5 year span of 2012 to 2017 shows that the County of Tulare has experienced an average annual decline in juvenile arrests of 10%, ranging as high as a 14% observed decrease to as low as a 6% observed decrease. From 2,844 in 2012 to 1,633 in 2017, County of Tulare juvenile arrests have declined down to 57%.

Referrals to probation have showed a similar downward trend with an average annual decline of 10% with referrals ranging as high as 4,708 in 2012 and as low as 2,803 in 2017. In comparing the arrest and referral trends, a strong positive correlation is found at an r value of 0.996.

Despite the decline in referrals, the number of referrals formally processed by the juvenile court has remained stable and relatively unchanged from 2012 to 2017, with an average change of 0% per year in the five year span. In comparing the amount of filed petitions and referrals and arrests from 2012 to 2017, a weak negative correlation is found at r values of -.42 and -.44 respectively.

Following a similar trend as that of the filed petitions from 2012 to 2017, the number of court dispositions has also remained stable and unchanged with an average increase of 1% per year in the same five year span. Similar to petitions filed, the number of court dispositions shares a weak negative correlation with number of arrests and referrals, with r values of -.48 and -.45 respectively.

In considering possible effects of JJCPA-YOBG funded programs to the observed trends, current implemented programs do address both treatment and preventative aspects of juvenile crimes. The G.R.E.A.T. Program, for example, provides services to elementary students with the aim of reducing gang involvement, especially since 26% of gang composition by age in rural counties are juveniles under the age of 15 (OJJDP, 1996). This, in turn, could have had a positive effect over the years of its implementation amongst other possible variables and thus the observed reduction. However, we cannot directly measure the extent of its effect nor can we establish if it did have any effect, exclusively or as an interacting variable. Similar principles apply for other JJCPA-YOBG funded programs, such as that of Sex Offender Counseling, Ember Program, or Intensive Probation Supervision- exposure to treatment or interaction of treatments and other potential confounding variables could possibly have had an effect. That being said, it remains true that arrests and probation referrals have steadily decreased while petitions, and subsequently associated court dispositions, have remained relatively static.

The Department continues to strive for continuous improvement with ongoing efforts to research, develop, evaluate and implement new innovative programs and approaches to add to its program services and will modify or replace any programs and/or services that have proven to be ineffective.
