

Training Compliance Due to COVID-19

We have received several inquiries about compliance with STC training standards due to travel restrictions, cancellations of training and conferences, or an overall need to suspend training due to COVID-19. To the extent these issues occur, we are asking agencies to document them and identify staff that may be out of compliance with STC requirements as a result. Please retain the documentation on site and we will request it during the compliance review. To the extent that training cannot be completed due to COVID-19, we will consider COVID-19 as a mitigating circumstance so that agencies are not found out of compliance with training standards and can have additional time to complete the training requirements.
